Maldives Tour Packages

One island, one resort, nothing but blue

The Maldives is the simplest idea in travel done perfectly. Each resort has an island to itself, ringed by white sand and a reef you can snorkel straight from the beach. Villas stand on stilts over a lagoon so clear you can watch fish from your deck, and the days are measured by meals, swims and sunsets. There is little to see in the usual sense, which is exactly the point.

For Indian travellers, it is also one of the closest. The flight from Kochi to Malé takes under two hours, visas are free on arrival, and resorts are used to Indian guests, families and honeymooners alike. At Alisha Tours & Travels, an IATA-accredited Maldives travel agency based in Kottayam, we arrange the flights, resort, villa category, meal plan and transfers as one booking.

Why travellers choose the Maldives

- Under two hours from Kochi, with a free visa on arrival for Indian passport holders
- Water villas over the lagoon, private pools and house reefs right outside the door
- The most popular honeymoon destination for Indian couples, and for good reason
- Maldives holiday packages with meals, transfers and taxes included, so costs stay clear
- Snorkelling and diving among turtles, rays, reef sharks and whale sharks
- Resorts that suit every budget, from good-value islands near Malé to private-island luxury

Top experiences

Villas and resort life

Water Villas — Rooms built on stilts over the lagoon, with ladders straight into the sea and sunrise or sunset views from the deck.

Beach Villas — Steps from the sand and better for families with small children. Many of our guests split their stay between a beach villa and a water villa.

House Reef Snorkelling — Most resorts have a reef within swimming distance of the beach, with turtles, reef fish and the occasional reef shark.

Spa & Sunset Dinners — Overwater spa treatments and private dinners on the beach, often included in honeymoon offers.

In the water

Whale Sharks in South Ari Atoll — One of the few places in the world where whale sharks can be seen year-round.

Manta Rays at Hanifaru Bay — Baa Atoll, a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve, where mantas gather to feed in the southwest monsoon season.

Dolphin Cruises — Sunset boat trips where spinner dolphins ride alongside, a favourite on any Maldives family tour package.

Sandbank Picnics — A boat out to a strip of sand in the middle of the ocean, with nothing around but water.

Diving — Some of the best diving in the Indian Ocean, with courses for beginners at most resorts.

Beyond the resort

Malé City — The compact capital, with the coral-stone Old Friday Mosque, the fish market and Sultan Park, easily seen in a few hours.

Local Islands — Guesthouse islands such as Maafushi offer a glimpse of everyday Maldivian life and a more budget-friendly stay.

Underwater Restaurants — A meal below the surface with fish swimming past the glass, offered at a handful of resorts.

Maldives honeymoon packages

The Maldives was made for honeymoons. It is private in a way that no city can be, the scenery does all the work, and the days have no schedule beyond what you want to do with them.

Most couples take three to five nights, often with a night or two in a beach villa followed by the rest in a water villa. The water villa is the romantic centre of it, with breakfast on the deck, a private pool or ladder into the lagoon, and the sunset from your own terrace. Transfers by speedboat suit resorts close to Malé, while seaplanes reach the more remote atolls with spectacular views on the way.

Our Maldives honeymoon packages cover water villa stays, full board or all-inclusive meal plans, speedboat or seaplane transfers, all taxes including the green tax, and the honeymoon extras resorts offer, such as cake, flowers, a candlelit dinner or a spa session. December to April books out early, so these dates are worth confirming well ahead.

Maldives tour packages from Kerala

Few international holidays are as easy from Kerala. IndiGo and Maldivian, the national airline of the Maldives, both fly direct from Kochi to Malé in under two hours, and Maldivian also flies direct from Thiruvananthapuram. There are good connections from Bengaluru and other Indian cities too. From Velana International Airport, transfers go straight to the resort by speedboat, seaplane or a short domestic flight, depending on the island. Maldivian runs the country's largest domestic network as well, which makes it a convenient choice when the last leg to the resort is a domestic flight.

Indian passport holders receive a free 30-day tourist visa on arrival, with a confirmed hotel booking and return ticket. Every traveller, including infants, completes the online IMUGA traveller declaration in the days before departure. We confirm the current rules at the time of booking, complete the paperwork with you, and arrange the resort, transfers and meal plan from our office.

Best time to visit

December to April is the dry season, with sunshine, calm seas and the clearest water for snorkelling. It is the peak season, so resort rates are at their highest, particularly over Christmas and New Year.

May to November is the southwest monsoon, with more cloud, showers and occasional rough seas. Days are still warm and often sunny between showers, manta season is at its best and Maldives tour packages offer excellent value, with many resorts adding free nights or villa upgrades.

Good to know before you go

The Maldives is thirty minutes behind India. The local currency is the rufiyaa, but resorts charge in US dollars and accept cards, so there is little need for cash. Prices in resorts are high for extras, so the meal plan matters: full board or all-inclusive usually works out better value than paying for each meal.

Seaplanes fly only in daylight, so guests arriving late in the evening may need a night near the airport before transferring. Alcohol is available only on resort islands, and on local islands visitors should dress modestly away from designated bikini beaches. Pack reef-safe sunscreen, a hat and light clothing, and bring an underwater camera if you have one.
